

Team Charter - Final Project

[Group 59]

March 18th, 2025

1 Communication Protocol

Our team will use the following communication channels:

- Primary: GitHub Issues & Discussions for tracking tasks and updates.
- Secondary: Discord for quick discussions and clarifications.
- Email: For official communications and documentation sharing.

Response Time Expectations:

- Non-urgent matters: Response within 24 hours.
- Urgent matters (e.g., deadline approaching): Response within 2-4 hours.
- Meetings: Scheduled at least once a week, with additional meetings as needed.

2 Penalty for Lack of Communication

- If a team member consistently fails to respond within the expected timeframe (three times without a valid reason), they will be warned.
- Repeated failures to communicate (after two warnings) will result in the team reporting the issue to the TA, and the individual's contribution may be adjusted accordingly.
- If delays impact the entire team's performance, all members will take collective responsibility in ensuring progress.

3 Collaboration Tools & Version Control

Code Collaboration: GitHub (private repository) with proper branching and pull request reviews.

- Development Tools:
 - VS Code .
 - Jupyter Notebooks for experiment documentation.
- Documentation: Google Docs for report drafts, Overleaf for LaTeX final reports.

4 Dispute Resolution

1. Direct discussion between team members involved.
2. If unresolved, bring the issue to the team as a whole for a group decision.
3. If no resolution is reached, escalate the matter to the TA for guidance.

5 Additional Guidelines

- Work Distribution: Tasks will be assigned based on skills and availability.
- Respect and Inclusivity: Every team member's input will be valued and respected.
- Backup Plan: If a member cannot complete a task due to unforeseen circumstances, they must notify the team ASAP so adjustments can be made.
- Code of Conduct: Adhere to academic integrity and ethical coding practices.

6 Acknowledgment

By signing this charter, all members agree to follow the outlined guidelines and contribute actively to the project.
